PROBLEM

Small carriers rarely have written procedures. The knowledge lives in the owner's head. Writing it all down from scratch takes weeks that nobody has.

APPROACH

Built a system that turns a short interview about how a task is actually done into a properly structured written procedure: consistent format, numbered steps, defined roles, and exceptions handled.

OUTCOME

Procedures that used to take days now take under an hour, in one consistent format across an entire binder.

Why this matters to you: Your safety program becomes a real document instead of an intention.
